

ATSILTECH LLC

Intelligent Document Processing and Workflow Automation
Columbia, Missouri | Woman-Owned Small Business

Company Overview

AtsilTech turns manual, paper-driven review into automated, AI-assisted workflows. Our flagship product, ComplianceIQ, reads handwritten and scanned regulatory forms, checks every value against program rules, and returns a short, color-coded list of the pages that need a human. Reviewers keep the final sign-off.

Core Competencies

- Document intelligence for handwritten and scanned high-volume forms
- Rules-based validation with exception routing and confidence scoring
- Manual-to-automated workflow conversion for compliance and audit teams
- Human-in-the-loop review interface design and operation

Past Performance and Experience

- Affordable Housing Access, Jan to Feb 2026: compliance audit of 7,000+ units across 220+ properties against HUD and California BOE requirements
- Built that review logic into ComplianceIQ, a working platform, concept to production in six months
- Trained custom recognition models over seven cycles on real handwritten regulatory forms

Differentiators

- Confidence scoring: high-certainty fields validate automatically; only exceptions go to a human reviewer
- Security-first: processing runs inside the client's own Microsoft 365 tenant; data never leaves their environment
- Domain expertise in the forms themselves, not just the technology. The founder has reviewed these files by hand
